

3x-Olympian and Classroom Champions Co-Founder, Steve Mesler, recently wrote a letter to all Classroom Champions students. However, something happened during delivery on National Punctuation Day. Now the letter is full of punctuation and grammatical errors! Can you fix the letter so that others can read it? Correct all the punctuation and grammar mistakes that you can find in the below letter.

thursday september 24 2020

dear classroom champions?

What a start too the school year, Let me begin buy saying that im proud of you; Youve been amazing as youve stayed positive and tried your best two be flexible as the first day of school was probably nothing like youve had before You and your teacher have been figure out all of this together and such teamwork is really important these days; We at classroom champions are trying too set new goals while staying focused on supporting one another during all of these ups and downs two. just know that your teacher your classmates our classroom champions team and I all believe in you We can get through this together Keep up the grate work

sincerely

steve mesler

3x-Olympian and Classroom Champions Co-Founder, Steve Mesler, recently wrote a letter to all Classroom Champions students. However, something happened during delivery on National Punctuation Day. Now the letter is full of punctuation and grammatical errors! Can you fix the letter so that others can read it? Correct all the punctuation and grammar mistakes that you can find in the below letter.

Thursday, September 24, 2020

Dear Classroom Champions,

What a start to the school year! Let me begin by saying that I'm proud of you. You've been amazing as you've stayed positive and tried your best to be flexible, as the first day of school was probably nothing like you've had before. You and your teacher have been figuring out all of this together, and such teamwork is really important these days. We, at Classroom Champions, are trying to set new goals while staying focused on supporting one another during all of these ups and downs too. Just know that your teacher, your classmates, our Classroom Champions team, and I all believe in you. We can get through this together! Keep up the great work.

Sincerely,

Steve Mesler

